Priority access through the secret back door The relics and ruins of the once-mighty Roman Empire lie scattered across the vast territories it once occupied, but nowhere do we find such impressive remains as in the city of Rome itself. Here, in the heart of Italy, the most famous and important of all the many buildings that the Romans constructed can be found. These symbols of a past civilization are a familiar sight to the three million inhabitants of modern Rome, but they are also a startling, awe-inspiring sight to over four million tourists who come to behold them each passing year. The Colosseum is one of the most famous remaining structures of the Roman Empire. ★Tue 15 Oct 2024: Pompeii and Herculaneum select skip the line

If you want an even closer insight into these two UNESCO sites, join us on this exclusive tour, limited to 25 people per guide. These sister cities were frozen in time for almost 1700 years, destroyed by the eruption of Mount Vesuvius in 79AD. Preserved in ash, Pompeii is a fine example of a commercial Roman city. Herculaneum is a quiet seaside town that was actually preserved in mud. Both cities will be brought to life by our guide's commentary through radio headsets, so you do not miss a bit of what life was like during the Roman Empire. There is also a light lunch included. To give you a skip the line service, entrance fees are included at the time of booking.
