This tour from the Montego Bay area to the Bob Marley Museum in Kingston will take approximately 7 hours from your pickup point and back.

Transportation to the location will take about 2 to 3 hours depending on the flow of traffic. After arriving at the location, you will then get a 75-minute tour of the museum where you will get the chance to see the actual images of the things Bob Marley used to use such as his guitar, recording studio, vehicle for transportation, and lots more. You will also watch a video to get a clearer understanding of his life growing up as a musician. You will learn everything there is to know about the great legend Bob Marley, our culture, and our reggae music. For the remaining time, you will be transferred back to your hotel/villa with the possibility of stopping upon request.

Thu 03 Oct 2024: Bob Marley's Nine Mile Day Trip

Bob Marley's Nine Mile Day-Trip with Admission & Guided Tour from Montego Bay

Overview

Enjoy this day trip to Nine Miles, St. Ann to visit the birth and resting place of the late reggae legend, Bob Marley. At 3,000 feet, you are treated to an amazing view of the continuous mountain peaks and fresh mountain air. The warmth of the "Country folks" in this very tiny remote village is unmatched. This is a rare moment to stand right next to the reggae legend, one of the most popular persons to ever walk this earth even after over 38 years of his passing.

- ✦ Transportation by air-conditioned minivan/bus

What to Expect

Duration: 7 hours

- ✦ 1 Pass By Rose Hall Great House

This Rose Hall Great House is an early 18th-century plantation home that sits on a high elevation on thousands of acres in Rose Hall, Montego Bay.

The Rose Hall Great House was once owned by the famous and certainly one of the wickedest plantation owners to walk the land of Jamaica, Annie Palmer. She owned hundreds of slaves. This house became haunted after her gruesome death in 1831. The house is scary to look at even in the daytime. There is no stop at the Rose All Great House on your way to Negril; however, your tour guide will tell you the history and slow down so that you can take photos.

- Admission Ticket Free

- ✦ 2 Pass By Greenwood Great House

The Greenwood Great House (Plantation home) was constructed in the early 18th Century. Like most, if not all the other Great Houses in Jamaica, the Greenwood Great House was built at a high elevation. One could say that this was a strategy used back in the plantation era as a means of overlooking the plantation and also for security purposes. This house, unlike the Rose Hall Great House, is not haunted but of a more peaceful and relaxing atmosphere. The history and the architecture of the house is what will blow you away. As you pass by, feel free to take photos when your tour guide slows down.

- Admission Ticket Free

✦3 Columbus Park

Columbus Park Discovery Bay The town of Discovery Bay is where you will find Columbus Park. It was originally named Puerto Seco Dry Harbour by Christopher Columbus in 1494 when he and his men landed on the Island. It is said that could not find fresh water to drink. They later found fresh water in another area about 5 miles west of the town. The water was so good that they named the location where it was found Rio Bueno (Good River). However, the town of Puerto Seco was later renamed in 1947 to Discovery Bay because Discovery Bay is where the Spanish, led by Christopher Columbus landed when they invaded the Island on May 4, 1494. There is a park with several old relics and artifacts on display. There will be a brief stop to take photos and capture the rich history of this historic town.

✦4 Nine Miles

Bob Marley was born on February 6th, 1945. He died on May 11th, 1981. Visiting this small town is a priority for all tourists, cruise ships, and stopover passengers alike from Ocho Rios, Falmouth, Montego Bay, and as far as Negril in the west. Nine Miles is a tiny village in the hills of St. Ann where the reggae legend, Bob Marley was born, and fittingly, the place has now been laid to rest. Although Bob Marley moved to Kingston at age 13 to live with his mother and to advance his music career, he would often return to Nine Miles to get away from the fast-paced life of Kingston. Home is where the heart is and Bob Marley wrote several of his hit songs when he was in St. Ann. Nine Miles Jamaica was always his home and to have the full experience of Bob Marley; you will have to visit this town. A tour of this settlement will leave you with a greater understanding of the legend Bob became; in fact, the community today is pretty much how it was in Bob Marley's early days. A Rastafarian tour guide will be on hand to guide you around the property and answer all your questions. Still present, is his first home and the very bed he slept in as a young child and also as an adult when he would return on his many cooling-out visits. The rock that he used as a pillow, on which he would relax. Quite a few guests have said that they have felt the presence of Bob Marley. The Nine Mile Tour includes his birth and resting place, what he liked to do, and Mount Zion, the spot where he drew his inspiration to write his songs. Visit the nearby Ethiopian church where his body was laid to rest with his guitar. Please remove your shoes before you enter as a sign of respect. Feel free to look around. The drive from Montego Bay will be approximately 2 1/2 hours.
