Penang Hill Since the British first settled here, they had always yearned for respite from the depressing heat, thus they set sight on the highest peak in Penang i.e. Penang Hill locally known as Bukit Bendera. They built a railway up the hill and bungalows for retreat during the weekend. Here we can see the legacy of the bungalows left behind by the British besides experiencing a colder climate compared to the lowlands. See a 360-degree view of George Town, Love Lock, Ginger Garden, and monkeys! 1 hour 30 minutes Admission Ticket Not Included 2 Kek Lok Si Temple During the British era the Chinese flourished and thrived. They practiced their religion steadfastly and built many temples that rivaled those in China, if not better! One of the better ones is Kek Lok Si, better described as the largest Buddhist theme park in South East Asia. Learn all about Buddhism, Taoism, and Confucianism at the temple. There is a saying here in Penang - "you have not been to Penang if you have not been to Penang Hill and Kek Lok Si". 1-hour Admission Ticket Free 3 Pinang Peranakan Mansion See the former house built by a Chinese Captain, Kapitan Chung Keng Kwee, called the Pinang Peranakan Mansion. This elite house full of antiques and collectibles from East and west, featured many recollection memories of when the Chinese immigrants inter-marriage with the locals and created a fusion of East meets locals, hence a new tradition was borne. It is also a popular shooting location of choice for Malaysian, Singaporean, and Chinese movies. 1-hour Admission Ticket Not Included 4 Street Art in George Town Lithuanian artist Ernest Zacharevic is leaving his mark with beautiful wall paintings of children all across historical Georgetown. The artworks are funny, fascinating, and very much open to everyone's interpretations. See magical street art created by Ernest like "Children on Bicycle", "Boy on Motorcycle", "Dinosaur" and "Climbing Wall". 30-minute Admission Ticket Free 5 Chaiya Mangalaram Thai Buddhist Temple Wat Chaiyamangkalaram is a Thai Buddhist temple that contains one of the world's longest reclining Buddha statues, as well as several colored statues of Dragon (nagas) and other mythical creatures. See the beautiful and serene world's 3rd longest reclining Buddha. Walk around the statue for more trivia like "Weekdays" Buddha, 12 Chinese animals zodiac Buddhas, and pay homage to the "Future Buddha" (Matreya). 30 minutes Admission Ticket Free 6 Chew Jetty Busy, scenic destination featuring a traditional village of rustic houses on stilts over the water. Stroll on the plank walkway to see locals go about their daily life on the jetty, take nice pictures of the harbor view, iconic Penang Ferry, and Penang Bridge, and buy a trinket or two. 30 minutes Admission Ticket Free 7 Khoo Kongsi The Khoo Kongsi is a large Chinese clan-house with elaborate and highly ornamented architecture, a mark of the dominant presence of the Chinese in Penang, Hidden in an enclave, the magnificent family house became a get-together for festivals. 1 hour Admission Ticket Not Included
